Introduction

This document details population and household information relevant to the Paisley South multi-member electoral ward sourced from Scotland's Census 2011, published by the National Records of Scotland in various releases since 2012. The document is split into seven sections: General Population, Equality and Human Rights, Marital and Civil Partnership Status, Economic Activity, Household Information, Transport, and Health and Care.

Summary

- Paisley South is situated to the South East of Renfrewshire and shares borders with the Paisley North West, Paisley East and Ralston, and Paisley South West wards.
- The ward incorporates the housing areas of Charleston, Glenburn, Hunterhill, Lochfield and Thornly Park, facilities such as Saucelhill Park, and Dykebar Hospital.
- Over 18,000 people live in the area, in just fewer than 9,000 households.
- There are more females (53.12%) in the ward than males (46.88%).
- The area has a slightly smaller proportion of working-age population compared with the Renfrewshire total.
- Almost 98% of the population are White; 24% of people in Paisley South are Roman Catholic
- Less than 1% of the population have any Gaelic skills.
- 36% of people aged 16 and over in Paisley South are single.
- Almost 70% of working age residents are economically active, which is higher than the whole of Renfrewshire.
- At the time of the census the main employment industries were human health, wholesale and retail trade, and education.
- Overall qualification levels are lower than Renfrewshire, but there are more females with higher qualifications than males.
- Almost half of all households in Paisley South are purpose-built blocks of flats or tenement, and one-fifth is rented from the local authority.
- 63% of all households have at least one car or van, and the most common method of transport to work is car or van.
- There are proportionately fewer deprived households than across Renfrewshire.
- 80% of all people believe they have 'Very Good or Good Health',
- 69% of people have no long-term health conditions.
- Approximately 10% of people provide unpaid care.

Section One – General Population

Table 1 illustrates the total number of households, and the total number of people living in Paisley South. There are almost 9,000 households in Paisley South, which equates to 10.84% of the total number of households in Renfrewshire. There are over 18,500 people that live in Paisley South, which equates to 10.63% of the Renfrewshire population.

Table 5: Working-age people in Paisley South

In Table 6, five-year age bands of all people in Paisley South are illustrated, separated by gender. There are more people in the 45 to 49 age band in Paisley South than in any other aged band (1,594) with almost 52% of them female. In every age band from age 15 onwards, there is a higher proportion of females than males in Paisley South, while across Renfrewshire this occurs from age 30. The age band with the closest split between the male and female populations in Paisley South is 30 to 34, with 49.95% of the population male and 50.05% female. This equates to 519 males and 520 females in Paisley South.

To summarise, there is generally a smaller proportion of working-age people in Paisley South compared with the rest of Renfrewshire, while there are proportionately more elderly adults (aged 65 and over) than the whole of Renfrewshire.

Section Two – Ethnicity and Religion

Paisley South has a similar range of ethnic groups compared with the rest of Renfrewshire, as highlighted in Table 7. There are a slightly higher proportion of African people based in the ward than throughout Renfrewshire, and also a slightly higher proportion of White people. Tables 8.1 and 8.2 develop this further, by looking at the total number of males and females across each ethnic group, broken into age bands.

Table 8.2: Age and Ethnic Group of all Females in Paisley South

Paisley South has a lower proportion of Church of Scotland followers than the rest of Renfrewshire but this is compensated by a higher than average Roman Catholic population, with almost one-quarter of people in the ward identifying with this religion and a higher proportion of people with no religion. Other religious groups are generally similar in proportion to the rest of Renfrewshire.

Section Three – Marital and Civil Partnership Status

There are proportionally more people aged 16 and over in Paisley South are single and have never been married or registered in a civil partnership, divorced or widowed compared to the whole Renfrewshire population. This is compensated by a smaller proportion that are married or in a registered same sex civil partnership. Tables 12.1 and 12.2 illustrate the total number of males and females across each category, split into age bands.

Table 12.2: All Females in Paisley South by Age by Marital Status and Civil Partnership Status

The tables show that people in Paisley South are more likely not to be married than married, and females are even less likely than males to be married. Approximately 39% of females are married compared to 45% of males.

Section Four – Economic Activity

Tables 13 to 15 highlight the number of working age people across Paisley South by their level of economic activity, industry and occupation in the week leading up to the 2011 Census. Should you seek the most up to date picture, details can be found at <http://www.nomisweb.co.uk/>.

The Census defines Economic Activity as “whether or not a person aged 16 and over was working or looking for work in the week before census. Rather than a simple indicator of whether or not someone was currently in employment, it provides a measure of whether or not a person was an active participant in the labour market.”¹

Across Paisley South, approximately 43% of people aged 16 to 74 were in full-time employment compared to the Renfrewshire average of 41%. The proportion of full-time students in Paisley South was higher than the proportion throughout Renfrewshire, while the level of unemployment in the ward was lower than the average across Renfrewshire. The ward is more economically active (70.1%) than the whole of Renfrewshire (68.7%); there are more men in full-time employment than women, while there are more women in part-time employment or looking after the family at home.

Table 23: Deprivation dimension of all households in Paisley South³

³The dimensions of deprivation used to classify households are indicators based on four selected household characteristics. A household is deprived in a dimension if it meets the following conditions:

1. Employment: a person in the household aged 16 and over who is not a full-time student is either unemployed or long-term sick or disabled.
2. Education: no person aged 16 to 64 in the household has a highest level qualification of level 2 or above, or no person aged 16 to 18 is a full-time student.
3. Health and disability: any person in the household has 'bad' or 'very bad' general health, or has a long-term limiting health problem or disability.
4. Housing: the household's accommodation is either overcrowded (with an occupancy rating of -1 or less), is in a shared dwelling or does not have central heating.

Section Six – Transport

The most common method of transport used by working age people of Paisley South and across the whole of Renfrewshire is by driving a car or van. There are a slightly higher proportion of people in Paisley South that would walk to work, while a lower proportion would get a bus to work than the average throughout Renfrewshire. A higher proportion of people in Paisley South will use a train to get to work than across the whole of Renfrewshire, although this is more likely due to train stations at Canal Street and Gilmour Street in neighbouring wards.
