

A761/Arkleston Road/Hawkhead Road Junction Cycle Infrastructure Improvements

Consultation Leaflet

Following a recent study published by Sustrans Scotland, the A761 Glasgow Road/Arkleston Road/Hawkhead Road signal junction, was found to be one of Scotland's junctions most in need of extra safety measures specific to cyclists.

Local Transport Projects, on behalf of Renfrewshire Council, are currently undertaking a safety assessment of the junction. A range of potential improvement options will then be developed with the aim of providing a safer and more attractive environment for walking and cycling through the junction. Any improvement measures to be implemented at the junction will be designed to tie into plans for the wider cycling and walking route networks.

This study is being funded by Sustrans Scotland as part of the Tackling Dangerous Junctions Programme which seeks to redesign junctions to make them safer for people cycling. This project also aims to provide walking and cycling infrastructure that supports everyday journeys on foot and by bike, particularly short journeys to work and to school.

We would like to hear your views regarding any issues that currently exist and what improvements you would like to see at the junction. When responding we would ask you to consider the following questions:

1. As a motorist, cyclist or pedestrian, have you experienced any issues or difficulties when travelling through the junction?
2. Do you have any other concerns or issues which you would like to see addressed as part of the project?
3. What improvements would you like to see at the junction?
4. Have you any other comments?

Have your say

Before any decision is made we are consulting with local residents and stakeholders so that everyone has a chance to have their say. Give us your feedback by emailing us before Friday 8 June 2018 at the following email address:

info@local-transport-projects.co.uk

All feedback received will be considered during the development of improvement options. We look forward to hearing your thoughts and hope to gain your support for future improvements.

Thank you for taking the time to let us know your thoughts. If you want more information, or would like to receive this information in another language or in another format, such as large print, Braille or on audio tape, please contact us on (01482) 679911 or email us at

info@local-transport-projects.co.uk